

NEW DANGERS IN BOUNDARY CHANGE

Extension of Corporate Limits of City Might Affect State Highway Improvements.

CITIZENS CONFER WITH MAYOR

Strongly Urge That Pending Ordinance be Delayed Until Market Roads are Completed.

Fear that the proposed extension of the boundary lines of the city might affect the proposed improvement of local roads by the state highway commission, is expressed by a number of citizens who have asked Mayor C. W. Burkart to suggest that the pending extension ordinance be temporarily delayed. It is pointed out that the contract for the improvement of the High street road specifies that it shall begin at the east boundary line of the city. Those who have given the matter some study express the opinion that if the boundary line is extended the new highway road will start at the point where the boundary is fixed.

The specifications for the Jonesville road improvements provide that the concrete work will begin at the township line. This would leave but a short distance between the end of the Ewing street improvement and the new road that would not be improved. This part of the road is on the east side of the city cemetery and the St. Paul cemetery, and the cost of improving it would fall, at least in part, on the city. However, it is expected that the road will be completely improved when the state highway commission begins its work.

Mayor Burkart said he had been approached by a number of citizens regarding the proposed extension ordinance, and they were of the belief that it would be advisable to postpone its passage until the main market highway improvements are completed.

Mayor Burkart said he would make the suggestion to the council, and while he held in reservation what action he might take in case the ordinance is passed, his remarks indicated that he would veto it at this time.

ROTARY CLUB FAVORS ROAD IMPROVEMENT

Ask Commissioners to Let Contract for Seymour and Dudleytown Road Construction at Once.

The Rotary Club at its noon luncheon today went on record as favoring the immediate construction of the Seymour and Dudleytown improvement. This is one of the series of roads which has been under discussion for the past three years. Judge Swails and a committee of the club went to Brownstown this afternoon to ask the commissioners to proceed with the letting of the contract.

The feeling of the club was that the Seymour and Brownstown road would be a part of the state highway system of roads and would probably be built next year. Since there is now one road in good condition between Seymour and Hangman's Crossing, it was thought best to await the action of the state highway commission and save about $50,000 for the township by waiting until next year.

The contract for the Seymour and Four Corners Road has been let already by the state highway commission and construction will begin at once on it.

Mr. T. S. Blish acted as chairman at the meeting today and "Good Roads" was the subject of discussion. County Attorney O. O. Swails, and Superintendent of Roads J. L. Stilwell, were present as guests of the club. The commissioners had been invited but were unable to attend. The feeling of the club was very favorable to the construction of good roads in every direction and in all parts of the county, because of their convenience, time saving and money value to the business life of the county.

ASKS GUARANTORS FOR 1920 ASSEMBLY

Redpath Representative Proposes New Plan of Support for Chautauqua Next Year.

GOOD PROGRAM IS ASSURED

Suggested That Fifty or One Hundred Citizens Agree to Make up Loss, if Any Occurs.

That the Seymour Chautauqua Association may pass out of existence and that the assembly program for 1920 will be guaranteed by from fifty to one hundred citizens, were the indications today. J. L. Blackburn, who has served as platform manager during the chautauqua closing tonight, has taken up the matter of next year's program with the local association. The directors feel that they have assumed the responsibility for the chautauqua during the last six years and that they are entitled to be relieved of further work and obligations. They have performed their work without compensation and immediately before the assemblies have opened have faced a huge amount of work and considerable financial responsibility. However, they are anxious for the chautauqua movement to continue here and are willing to give it financial and moral support.

The Redpath representative proposes that fifty or one hundred men agree to meet any financial loss that may result from the chautauqua next year. The bureau agrees that the loss, if any, would be pro-rated among the guarantors and that if any of them should die during the coming year that the Redpath association will assume that part of the loss. It is pointed out that if any loss should result, it will be comparatively small when divided among a hundred or even half that number of men. The local people who are interested in the movement are confident that the chautauqua next year will be a success financially and those who have been approached have signed the guarantee paper without hesitation.

Mr. Blackburn presented the plan in a general way last night and will give another explanation tonight. C. H. Wiethoff and the Rev. J. H. More who are interested in the movement, have circulated guarantee papers among the citizens today and have secured a number of signatures. They will be at the gate tonight and anyone desiring to sign will be given opportunity at that time. The chautauqua movement is a community undertaking and for this reason it is believed that the proposed plan is better than the one followed in the past inasmuch as the responsibility was largely centered in a small group. Under the new plan a larger number of people will feel they are directly interested in the assembly.

The chautauqua closes tonight with a presentation of cartoon work by Alton B. Packard. This will be a splendid entertainment and a large audience is expected.

The play, "It Pays to Advertise," was enthusiastically received last night. The big audience was more than pleased with the play and the company of eight presenting it was highly commended. The Metropolitan Quartet provided an interesting entertainment this afternoon and will give the prelude tonight.

ONE PLEADS GUILTY TO CHARGE IN CITY COURT

Case Against Harry Hedges Dismissed on Motion of Prosecutor—Everett Ault Fined $1 and Costs

Everett Ault, an employe of the Seymour Mutual Telephone Company, pleaded guilty to the charge of operating an automobile without displaying the proper license plates when arraigned in city court this morning. The case against Harry Hedges, who was facing a similar charge, was dismissed on motion of the prosecutor.

Ault was fined $1 and costs, in all amounting to $11, which was paid. The machines were the property of the Seymour Mutual Telephone Company.

STATE MOTOR LAWS WILL BE ENFORCED

Chief Abell Instructs Policemen to Demand Strict Compliance With Indiana Regulations.

SILENCERS MUST BE USED

Tail Lights Required on Automobiles Parked on Streets—Two License Numbers Displayed.

"Because of complaints which have been made recently relative to the neglect or failure of some automobile owners to comply with the state motor laws, our department will wage a campaign to enforce these regulations," declared John T. Abell, chief of police, this morning in speaking of the instructions which have been given the members of the local police to enforce the laws. Chief Abell instructed the members of the night force last night to enforce the regulations, and he said that the policemen who are on duty during the day time would also be on the watch for motorists who violate state laws.

The state motor laws briefly outlined require automobile owners to carry license number plates on both the front and rear of their automobiles; to keep the tail light burning at night whenever the machine is in use on a public highway or is parked on a street or country road; to use the dimmer on their headlights when passing another automobile at night, and to silence the exhaust of the motor. ### HENRY KRUMME INJURED IN RUNAWAY ACCIDENT

Team of Mules Scare at Rabbit and Run Away With Mower—Breaks Collar Bone.

Henry Krumme, a prominent farmer residing west of the city on the Brownstown road, was painfully injured Monday when a team of mules ran away with a hay mover on which he was riding, and as a result he was thrown from the machine and fractured his collar bone. Dr. G. G. Graessle, of this city, was called to attend the injured man.

The accident happened while Mr. Krumme was hauling hay. The team of mules became frightened when a rabbit jumped out of some brush. Although the injury is very painful, Mr. Krumme is getting along as well as could be expected. It will be several weeks before he is able to work again.

PROSECUTOR FILES MANY AFFIDAVITS

Dog Owners Who Have Failed to Pay The Required Township Tax Are Made Defendants.

WARRANTS FOR TWENTY-SIX

Ten or Twelve More Cases Are to be Filed in Squire Wilson's Court Soon—Payment to Trustee.

Twenty-six affidavits against owners of dogs who are alleged to have failed to pay the required township dog tax have already been filed in the court of Squire C. L. Wilson by T. H. Montgomery, deputy prosecutor, and ten or twelve additional cases are to be instituted as soon as the papers can be prepared. The names of the defendants have not been made public as all the warrants have not been served by C. H. Wallace, local policeman.

The minimum fine for failure to pay this tax is fixed by law as $1 with court costs. In addition the defendant is required to pay the dog tax. The new state law specifies that owners shall pay an annual tax of $8.

The law provides that the deputy assessors shall collect the dog tax at the time the dogs are listed for taxation. If the owners are unable to pay the tax at the time the deputy assessor calls to list his property he is given until May 15 to pay the township assessor. If the tax is not paid by May 15 to the township assessor he is required by law to file a list of all dog owners who are delinquent with the township trustee and the owners are given an addition time until June 2 to settle. The law further provides that if the tax is not paid to the trustee on or before June 2, the trustee shall turn the names of the delinquent owners over to the prosecuting attorney who is required to institute legal proceedings. The action that has been taken in mandatory and is so provided that all dog taxes will be paid.

The names of the defendants turned over to the prosecutor are those who have given to the assessor the number of dogs they own and the only question involved is whether or not the tax has been paid. A receipt is given for such payment and this point never becomes one of serious controversy.

WASHINGTON RACE RIOTS CONTINUE

Additional Re-enforcement Will Be Sent to National Capital to Assist the Police.

FOUR KILLED DURING NIGHT

Armed Negroes Riding Through Streets in Automobiles Defy Whites to "Come On."

By United Press

Washington, July 22—A resolution asking President Wilson to proclaim martial law in the District of Columbia because of rioting between whites and negroes today was introduced in the house by Representative Emerson, Ohio.

Senator Harrison, Mississippi, introduced a bill to require the District of Columbia Traction Company to operate separate cars for whites and negroes.

Representative Clark, Florida, asked that a special house committee be named to investigate the race riots. His resolution asked what police were doing to stop the disorders which have gripped the national capital for three nights, resulting in four deaths and more than fifty wounded.

He said it was the solemn duty of the federal government to take immediate action to restore order. Washington's police are trying to prevent the sale of firearms in Maryland and Virginia as well as in the District of Columbia.

Four hundred soldiers and marines re-enforcing the seven hundred police of the national capital were unable to cope with the mob. While they were fighting rioters in one place, another outbreak would be recorded from a quarter of the city blocks distant.

The negroes, better armed than the whites, appeared to have the best of several encounters.

Early this morning automobiles crowded with yelling blacks, many of them armed, were dashing about streets in the residential districts, defying the whites to "come on."

The coming of daylight and a terrible thunderstorm which deluged the city put an end to the fighting. But the police heads fear it will be resumed tonight.

The dead reported this morning were Detective Sergeant Harry Wilson, Kenneth Crall Randall Neal and Thomas Armstrong, the two latter being negroes. Detective Sergeant B. W. Thompson and Private Albert Luck of the marines, were believed in a dying condition. Of the other casualties five were policemen.

Major Pullman, chief of the Washington police, conferred with military authorities today and it was expected that tonight would see the national capitol practically an armed camp.

"There will be parleying with the elements of disorder," said Pullman. "All the power of the federal gov-

ELEVEN DEAD IN MODERN TRAGEDY

Twenty-five Injured When Blazing Air Craft Crashes Through Skylight of Chicago Building.

TWO MEMBERS OF CREW KILLED

Thousands Watching Flight Over City See Flicker of Fire Burst From Rear of Huge Bag.

Chicago, July 22—Twelve dead and twenty-five injured was the final count today of casualties in Chicago's most modern tragedy—the fall of an air craft through the skylight of a metropolitan business building.

Coroner Hoffmann's jury first heard eye-witness tell of the spectacular accident. W. Young, the Goodyear representative with the "blimp" refused to testify, his attorney advising that he might incriminate himself.

Late yesterday a 160-foot dirigible fell, blazing, into the counting room of the Illinois Trust & Savings Company. Two members of the "Wingfoot" express and nine employees of the bank were among the dead. Most of them were burned to death when the gas bag with its heavy fusilades burst through steel and plate glass and spread burning gasoline in all directions.

A score of investigations headed by the coroner and the state attorney opened today. Seventeen men mostly employees of the Goodyear Rubber Company, owners of the Wingfoot, were held for examination.

The dirigible sailed over the city at a height of five hundred feet. Thousands watching from the street saw a flicker of flame at the rear of the bag, then four black dots dropping over the side, then the crumpling and twisting dirigible slid downward, overtaking the dots and crashing into the building.

Of all the building in Chicago's business district, the "Blimp" chose the one likely victim for such an accident. The bank building, a two story structure, squatting among the giants of Chicago's financial district, was the only one with a skylight of such proportions.

The heavy machinery of the dirigible brought the bag down with such force that steel supports for the heavy glass were snapped like matches. Workers in the bank, it was after customers hours—saw a shadow over the skylight. There was the crash, then the room was filled with roaring flame. Six were dead almost instantly. Others singed by the terrific heat of burning gasoline, fought blinding for the few exits. Workers on the balcony rushed to the windows, a few attempting the short jump to the street.

The flames were controlled only after the gasoline had been burned from the floor.

J. A. Boettner, pilot of the "Wingfoot" was the first to see the danger.

"Over the top," he yelled to his companions, and slid over the side. His parachute opened nicely and he landed on a roof, other occupants following him. E. H. Davenport, publicity man, was caught before he could clear the machine. He was carried down by the plunging bag and hurled through a portion of the roofing adjoining the skylight. Another occupant suffered a fractured leg and internal injuries when he alighted in the street.

With hastily gathered furniture the bank re-opened today.

A loss of $50,000 in bonds, supposed to have been burned, was announced.

President John J. Mitchell, hesitated to estimate the amount of property loss involved.

"I'm thinking of the deaths of those people I know personally," he said. He thought $15,000 would replace fixtures. The original fittings were seared in a moment as burning gas and gasoline almost instantly turned metal to a white, molten mass and cracked the marble pillars of the big room.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Haskett have received a card from their son, Alva Haskett, who has been with the overseas army, that he arrived at his home at Hopedale, Ill., last Saturday, July 19.

TAX APPRAISEMENT.

When the assessors began work last spring under the new tax law they were instructed to appraise property at its true cash value and it was expected at that time that the appraisement for this year would be at least double that of 1918. A review of the tabulation compiled by the county auditor shows that in the main the appraisements in each taxing unit are approximately twice as large as one year ago. This indicates that the local assessors have followed their instructions and have carried out the spirit of the new law. The total appraisement in Jackson county, exclusive of corporations which come within the sole authority of the state board of tax commissioners, is $25,013,630 for this year as compared to $14,757,140 for 1918. The figures for last year include the banks but not the public utility corporations and the railroads. On this basis it is predicted that the appraisement under the new tax law will be approximately double that of last year.

It is yet to early to figure just what the rate of taxation in the various units will be for 1920, but it is known that it will be greatly reduced. In Seymour the rate this year was $4.02 a hundred. The law provides that a greater sum of money cannot be raised under the current assessment for next year than was raised under the old assessment this year. It is not likely on the face of the present figures, that the rate will be reduced by one-half, but it is confidently believed that a rate approaching fifty per-cent of the 1919 rate will prevail in 1920.

Under the old law the basis of appraising property was not uniform.

Rheumatism Relief--25c.

Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets), Are Helping Thousands Who Tried Expensive Things Without Result. It's Guaranteed.

There are three vital processes of human existence—the digestion of food, the extraction of nourishment from it and the elimination of waste. Poor digestion and assimilation means failure to derive full nourishment from food and that in turn often means impoverished blood, weakness, anemia, etc. Poor elimination means an accumulation of waste matter which poisons the body, lowers vitality, decreases the power of resistance to disease and leads to the development of many serious ills.

Rheumatism—due to some interference with the process of elimination, failure to get rid of certain body poisons,—cannot be expected to yield to any medicine that fails to correct the condition responsible for it. Could any reasonable person expect to rid himself of rheumatic pain as long as rheumatic poison is allowed to remain in the body?

Think of this. It explains the success of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) in so many cases where other medicines have failed. Thousands are using NR Tablets every day and getting relief. Why pay five or ten times as much for uncertain things? A 25c box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets), containing enough to last twenty-five days,—must help you, must give you prompt relief and satisfactory benefit or cost you nothing.

Nature's Remedy is not only for the relief of rheumatism. It improves digestion, tones the liver, regulates kidney and bowel action, improves the blood and cleanses the system. You've tried the expensive medicines and doctors, now make the real test. You'll get results this time. Just try it. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

Under the new law assessors are expected to list real estate and improvements at their actual cash value and already prospective buyers are beginning to look to these figures as a criterion of the worth of property in which they are interested. A resume of the valuation of lots and improvements in this city and the towns of the county, show that lots in Seymour were valued at an average of $499.50, the highest in the county. According to the tabulation lots in Crothersville are worth almost as much as they are in Brownstown. The average valuation in the former place is $155.84 while at Brownstown the average appraisement is $153.81. The average value of lots and improvements at Crothersville is $674.76 while at Brownstown lots and improvements average but $602.90. In Seymour the average value of lots and improvements was $1,358.93. After the tax law has been in operation a few years realty buyers will look to the tax duplicates to get an idea of the relative values of farm land in the different townships and of town and city property.

THE CHAUTAUQUA.

The chautauqua which closes tonight has been a success from the standpoint of attendance and interest and has been a direct benefit to this community. The public demands clean, wholesome entertainment and this along with the educational lectures and addresses is an important feature of a chautauqua. A well balanced chautauqua program is built to meet the approval of the largest number of people in any community. While many might desire a program entirely musical, others would prefer addresses and lectures. A lyceum bureau, whether it operates as a national body or as a local board of directors, recognizes that every individual would desire. And it aims, therefore, to present a course that will have an entertainment and educational value and will please the large possible number of people. The public has expressed appreciation of the numbers that have been given here the last seven days. The value of a chautauqua would be best appreciated if for any reason one were not presented here.

It is rather amusing to hear the democratic press try to criticize the republicans for failing to repeal without delay some of the foolish laws enacted by the democratic congress. Among such laws is the so-called luxury tax measure. The democrats passed the law and had opportunity to repeal it, but claimed that it was unable to do so because of the republican filibuster. The luxury tax law along with other obnoxious legislation for which the democrats must assume the credit, will be repealed. If the democrats are so sincere in their cry that the luxury tax is not needed, we wonder why they ever enacted it in the first place.

The post lighting system will be a benefit to the entire city. It is more than ornamental. It will be a valuable asset to Seymour. The public has long realized the necessity of such an improvement and the committee is receiving the kind of encouragement that means that the plan will be successful.

Austria is permitted fifteen days in which to file additional observations following receipt of the terms of the treaty. She will likely observe that the reparations clause is too "severe."

With the new automobile regulations in effect we presume that all the streets will be within the quiet zone hereafter.

It pays to advertise other things besides soap.

Case Will be Tried at Court House in Brownstown Monday Morning, July 27, at 9 o'clock.

After hearing the arguments of attorneys in the case of William T. McKain, trustee of Pershing township, vs. Albert Luedtke, county auditor, for funds due the township from Jackson county, Judge James A. Cox, sustained the complaint and the case has been set down for trial at the court house in Brownstown, Monday morning, July 27 at 9 o'clock.

Judge Cox held court at the city building here until late Monday afternoon listening to the arguments of the attorneys in the case. Pershing township is represented by Judge John M. Lewis and Thomas M. Honan while Judge Oren O. Swails, county attorney, is representing the county auditor. Judge Cox overruled a demurrer filed by the county attorney to make the trustee of Salt Creek township a party to the suit giving the opinion that he could not see where the trustee of another township could be involved in this case.

TENN. DOCTOR'S WIFE PUBLICLY LAUDS TRUTONIA

Mrs. Sims Finds Preparation of Real Medicinal Merit in Perfect Tonic.

Friendship, Tenn., July 24—"Everyone tells me I am looking so much better and I know I certainly feel greatly improved, since taking Trutona", Mrs. J. P. Sims, 47 years old, said recently. Mrs. Sims is the wife of a prominent and well known Friendship doctor and her statement praising Trutona has won many friends for the Perfect tonic.

"For the past six months I have been suffering with stomach trouble," Mrs. Sims continued, and in the last three months it has bothered me considerably.

"I decided to give Trutona a trial after reading about the medicine in the papers. From the very first my condition seemed to improve. My food digests better now and those terrible pains I formerly experienced are not so severe and are less frequent now. I am glad to recommend Trutona and I trust others will give it a trial."

Trutona is now being introduced and explained in Seymour at W. L. Federmann's Drug Store.

SPECIAL SERVICES AT PARK SUNDAY

Ministerial Association Arranging For Community Meeting for Afternoon and Evening.

PROMINENT MEN TO SPEAK

Band Music, Community Singing and Special Musical Numbers Will Be Featured.

The Ministerial Association has completed plans for a community meeting to be held at Shields park next Sunday afternoon and evening. The meeting will be of special interest to the public in general and an invitation is extended to the citizens of Seymour and Jackson county to attend.

Rev. Putman, of Butler College, has been secured to address the meeting in the afternoon and Rev. Thos. Grafton, pastor of the Third Christian church at Indianapolis, will deliver the evening address. Both speakers have wide reputations as orators and the messages that they will bring will be beneficial to the public in general.

According to the plans made by the Ministerial association, the meeting will convene in the afternoon at 2:30 with a one hour's concert by the Seymour band. The band concert will be followed with a community singing to be led by W. D. Jeffers, of Camp Taylor, Ky., who has been in charge of community service activities at that post for several months.

A special musical program has been arranged for both the afternoon and evening meetings including vocal, cornet and miramba solos. An orchestra composed of local musicians will furnish music for the services. The evening service will commence at 8 o'clock.

WASHINGTON RACE RIOTS CONTINUE

ernment is behind the police department and their combined forces will see to it that order is restored."

Two hundred persons were under arrest today according to police estimates.

The worst outbreak occurred in the early evening at Seventh and T streets, in the negro quarter. A mob of 1,000 negroes started to march toward the residences of the whites.

Police and soldiers confronted them. They refused to disperse and the troops charged, back by the police. Many of the rioters started shooting with revolvers. The fight lasted half an hour, during which negro women hurled bottles and other missiles from the windows and roofs of houses.

Several large mobs of whites formed in the downtown district and tried to invade the black belt, but a cordon of cavalry was thrown around that section after midnight.

Mrs. Gus Schobert and son, Froman, went to North Vernon this morning to visit Mrs. Phil Schobert.

Republican Classified Advs. Pay.

Save the Ten Cents.

Beginning June 10, a minimum price of fifteen cents for cash, and an additional ten cents when charged, will be made on all classified locals, cards of thanks, or other short locals. If the local is ordered by telephone the money may be sent to the office the same day, before it is charged on our books, and the extra charge of ten cents will not be made.

We find the cost of charging these small items, making out bills and collecting them often amounts to more than the local itself. The extra ten cents that will be charged will partly compensate the office for this extra work and expense. But you can save it by paying cash when the local is ordered.

Exception will be made in the case of business firms with whom we have regular monthly accounts.

The Seymour Democrat.

GOLD MINE DEPARTMENT STORE SEYMOUR, INDIANA

SOCIAL EVENTS

ENTERTAINS.

Miss Rachel Barbour entertained a few friends Monday night with a slumber party. Those who attended were Miss Marian Mains and her guest, Miss Kathryn Quigg of Richmond, Misses Kathryn and Annette Kessler and their guests, Misses Pauline and Frances Wise, and Miss Bettie Willer, of Middletown, Ohio, and Miss Edna Pepper, of Hamilton, Ohio, and Mrs. Oscar Beatty.

This morning beginning at 10 o'clock, Miss Barbour entertained a large number of guests at her home on North Chestnut street, in honor of the Misses Quigg, Wise, Willer and Pepper, with a 500 party and luncheon. Miss Constance Probst of Washington, D. C., who is the guest of Mrs. Earl Cox, was an out-of-town guest.

SHEPHERD-ARNOLD.

Miss Mabel Shutt, superintendent at the Schneek Memorial Hospital, and Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Black today received announcements of the marriage of Miss Mary Jane Arnold, former superintendent of the hospital here, to George Shepherd. The marriage took place July 19 at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. LeBar, at Chardon, Ohio. The card announces that Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd will be at home after July 25 at 4 Allston Heights, Allston, Mass. Miss Arnold was in charge of the hospital here for several months and formed a large acquaintance in this city.

MAYOR BURKART IN FAVOR OF POST LIGHTING SYSTEM

Declares that It Would Be a Public Improvement and Thinks City Ought to Pay Cost.

C. W. Burkart, city mayor, is strongly in favor of the installation of the proposed post lighting system in the business district of the city and feels that it is a public improvement of such kind that the entire city will be benefited and the city ought to pay for the system.

"There is certainly no doubt but that the central part or business section of our city ought to be better lighted," said Mayor Burkart. "We are paying now about $1,000 a year for the are lights and this would go a long ways in meeting the expense of the proposed system. I feel that the system would be an improvement that would benefit the whole city and that the cost ought to be paid met by taxation. The post lighting system would not be such a direct benefit to the merchants as they close their stores each night before the lights would be switched on, with the single exception of Saturday night. It is the people who live in all parts of the city that would receive the benefit, according to my belief. Such an improvement is similar to the city paying for concrete street intersections. The post lights would add to the appearance of the entire city and a well lighted traffic center impresses a visitor with the fact that the city is aggressive and wide awake."

lawful speed which automobiles and motorcycles may be driven are well known to automobile owners, and, of course, are included in the order of the chief of police.

Complaints have been frequently made here that motorists open the "cut outs" on their machines resulting in a loud and continuous cracking noise which is objectionable at all times and especially during the wee small hours of the morning when the tired and weary urbanite is trying to get a little rest before the faithful alarm clock sings its merry song in the morning. Almost any time of the night machines may be heard racing through some part of the city, and it is thought that much of this useless noise can be eliminated by the enforcement of the muffler ordinance.

Considerable trouble has been experienced with motorists who display only one license number plate on their machines. The state law requires that two plates shall be exhibited. One shall be placed on the front of the machine, the law provides, and the other on the rear of the machine at such a point that the tail lamp will shed a white light on the numerals. Many machines carry but one number plate, the other probably having been lost and the owners neglecting to secure a duplicate.

The dimmer law is another regulation that has not been enforced in the city and especially on the country highways. In the city the complaints are not as numerous as in the country. The strong, white light of the electric lamp blinds a motorist when it is thrown directly in his eyes and the dimmer law was enacted as a method to prevent possible collisions and other accidents by night drivers.

The state law provides further that tail lights must be kept burning on all machines whether in motion or parked on a street or public highway. The practice has become prevalent here to extinguish all lights on automobiles when they are left parked on the streets. Hereafter the tail lights must be kept burning, the police say.

Chief Abell said that it is not the desire of the department to demand harsh regulations of motorists, but that the regulations are state laws and not city ordinances. They are enacted, he pointed out, as a method to prevent accidents and he expressed the confident belief that automobile owners would co-operate with the police in complying with the state regulations and thus remove the necessity of prosecution.

BEDFORD PEOPLE HERE

Mayor of "Stone City" Spends Sunday Here Attending Chautauqua.

Bedford people, who went to Seymour to hear the Kryn band concerts Saturday and Sunday were highly pleased with the concerts and especially so with the reception given Howard Allen, Bedford boy, by the Seymour audience when he gave a cornet solo Sunday afternoon. The young musician was introduced by Supt. Blackwood as a Bedford boy and his solo, "Fantasia on National Airs," must have pleased from the continued applause. He gave for the encore, "The Rosary," which number was also enthusiastically received. Allen would have been compelled to play another encore had not a downpour of rain brought the concert to an abrupt end.

In the audience were his parents, Mayor and Mrs. C. H. Allen and Misses Stella and Blanche Allen, who motored to Seymour to hear the Saturday night and Sunday afternoon concerts.—Bedford Mail.

"OUR STANDBY"

Ohio Lady Tells How Black-Draught Liver Medicine Keeps Her Family in Good Health.

Hillsboro, Ohio.—Mrs. Myrtle Jenkins, of this address, says: "I cannot say too much for the benefit I and my whole family have derived from the use of Black-Draught. It is our standby and as we often say 'our doctor bill saver.' If one of the children begin to complain of head or stomach ache or any of the signs that go with a torpid liver, or constipation, I give them a good dose of Black-Draught and they most always get allright.

I often feel out of sorts and get a bad taste in the mouth, then I take a good dose.

I at one time had a case of chronic constipation and was nervous and run down on account of it. Also had awful headaches. I would take pills and other medicines that would gripe me and then I would be more constipated than ever. This is how I first began the use of Black-Draught, first in full doses, then in small doses, and was cured.

My children get a cold and I have never found a better laxative. I cannot say too much for what Black-Draught has done for us."

Thedford's Black-Draught should be in your medicine chest. Get a package today. All druggists, 25 cents a package. One cent a dose.

a surprisingly brief illness. About a week ago Mrs. Gowdy returned from a pleasant visit with her daughter, Mrs. Effie Dorsey, at Evansville. Last Thursday morning about 10 o'clock—she was stricken with uraemic poisoning. Her condition was severe from the start. Friday noon she lapsed into a state of unconsciousness, which was still with her at the end. Her death came as a great surprise to her many friends.

Mrs. Gowdy had been a well known resident of Washington since 1890, she and her family having moved here from Seymour following the removal of the local shops to this city. She was born January 17, 1851 on the old Schneck farm west of Seymour, Jackson county. Her parents were Wilkinson Reno and Julia Ann Reno. Her mother came to this country from Switzerland at the age of 18 years. Mrs. Gowdy's girlhood days were spent in Jackson county and she was educated at the Ursuline Academy at Louisville. At the age of 19 years she was married to Elisha Gowdy. One daughter, now Mrs. Effie Dorsey, of Evansville, was the only child born to them.

Mrs. Gowdy was the youngest of a family of seven children, all of whom are now deceased excepting one. A brother Clinton Reno lives in the west.

Mrs. Gowdy was a member of the Eastern Star Lodge and had been a member of the Presbyterian church since she was fourteen years old.

The Eastern Stars will hold their services at the home on Oak street Tuesday evening and the regular funeral service will be held Wednesday afternoon for burial. Later on the body of her husband will be removed from Oak Grove cemetery and placed to rest on the family lot in River-view cemetery at Seymour.

Band Concert.

Pieces of Eight

Being the Authentic Narrative of a Treasure Discovered in the Bahama Islands in the Year 1903—Now First Given to the Public.

BY RICHARD LEGALLIENNE

Copyright by Doubleday, Page & Company

But there were two close by each other which seemed to continue on. There was not much choice between them, but as both made in the same direction, so far as I could judge the direction in which I had so far progressed, I decided to take the larger one. It proved to be a passage much like the tunnel I had already traversed, only a little roomier, and therefore it was easier going, and it, too, brought me out, as had the other, on another cavern—but one considerably larger in extent.

I had stumbled on something like a Monte Cristo suite of underground apartments. And here for a moment I released my imagination from her blinders, and allowed her to play around these strange halls. And in one of her suggestions there was some comfort. It was hardly likely that caverns of such extent had waited for me to discover them. They must surely have been known to Teach, or whatever buccaneer it was who had occupied the ruined mansion not so very far above ground.

I set about the more carefully to examine every nook and corner. Two iron staples imbedded in one of the walls, with rusting chains and manacles attached, were melancholy proof of one of the uses to which the place had once been put. Melancholy for certain unhappy souls long since free of all mortal chains, but for me—need I say it?—exceedingly joyous. For if there had been a way to bring prisoners here it was none the less evident that there had been a way to take them out. But how and where? Again I searched every nook and cranny. There was no sign of entrance anywhere.

Then a thought occurred to me. What if the entrance were after the manner of a medieval oubliette—through the ceiling? There was a thought indeed to send one's hopes soaring. I ran in my eagerness through one cavern after another, holding my lantern aloft. That must be the solution. There could be no other way. I sought and sought, but alas! it was a false hope, and I threw myself down in a corner in despair, deciding that the prisoners must have been forced to crawl in as I had—though it was hardly like jailers to put themselves to such inconvenience.

I leaned back against the wall and gazed listlessly upward. Next moment I had bounded to my feet again. Surely I had seen some short, regular lines running up the face of the rock, like a ladder. I raised my lantern. Sure enough, they were iron rounds set in the face of the rock, and they mounted up till I lost them in the obscurity, for the cave here must have been forty feet high. Blessed heaven! I was saved!

But alas! they did not begin till some six feet above my head, and the way was sheer. How was I to reach the lowest rung? The rock was too sheer for me to cut steps in, as I had done farther back. I looked about me.

Again the luck was with me. In one of the caves I had noticed some broken pieces of fallen rock. They were terribly heavy, but despair lent me strength, and after an hour or two's work, I had managed to roll several of them to the foot of the ladder, and—with an effort of which I would not have believed myself capable—had been able to build them one on top of another against the wall. So, I found myself able to grasp the lowest rung with my hands. Then, fastening the lantern round my neck with my necktie, I prepared to mount.

The climb was not difficult, once I had managed to get my feet on the first rung of the ladder, but there was always the chance that one of the rungs might have rusted loose with time, in which case, of course, it would have given way in my grasp, and I should have been precipitated backward to certain death below.

However, the man who had mortised them had done an honest piece of work, and they proved as firm as on the day they were placed there. Up and up I went, till I must have been forty feet above the floor, and, then, as I neared the foot, instead of coming to a trap door, as I had conjectured, I found that the ladder came to an end at the edge of a narrow ledge, running along the ceiling much as a clerestory runs near the roof of some old churches. On to this I managed to climb. It was barely a yard wide, and the impending roof did not permit of one's standing erect. It was a dizzy situation, and it seemed safest to crawl along on all fours, holding the lantern in front of me. Presently it brought me up sharp in a narrow recess. It had come to an end.

Yes! but imagine my joy! It had come to an end at a low archway rudely cut in the rock. Deep set in the archway was a stout wooden door. My first thought was that I was trapped again, but, to my infinite surprise and gratitude, it proved to be slightly ajar, and a vigorous push sent it grinding back on its hinges. What next? I wondered. At all events, I was no longer lost in the bowels of the earth; step by step, I was coming nearer to the frontiers of humanity.

But I was certainly not prepared for what next met my eyes, as I pushed through the low doorway with my lantern, and looked around. Yes! indeed, man had certainly been here, man, too, very purposeful and businesslike. I was in a sort of low narrow gallery, some forty feet long, to which the arching rock made a crypt-like ceiling. At my first glance, I saw that there was another door at the far end similar to the one I had entered by; and on the left side of the gallery, built of rough stones from the low ceiling to the floor, was a series of compartments, each with locked wooden door. They were strong and grim looking, and might have been taken for prison cells, or family vaults, or possibly wine bins. The massive locks were red with rust, and there was plainly no possibility of opening them.

On the other side of the gallery there was a litter of old chains, and some boards, probably left over from the doors. Yes, and there were two old flintlock guns, and several cutlasses, all eaten away with rust, also a rough seaman's chest open and falling to pieces. At the sight of that, a wild thought flashed through my brain. What if—Good God! What if this was John Teach's treasury—behind those grim doors. I threw myself with all my force against one and then the other. For the moment I forgot that my paramount business was to escape. But I might as well have hurled myself against the solid rock. And, at that moment, I noticed that the place was darker than it had been. My lantern was going out. In a moment or two I should be in the pitch dark, and I had discovered that the door at the end of the gallery was as solid as the others.

I was to be trapped, after all; and I pictured myself slowly dying there of hunger—the pangs of which I was already beginning to feel—and some one, years hence, finding me there, a moldering skeleton—some one who would break open those doors, uncover those gleaming hoards, and moralize on the irony of my end; condemned to die there of starvation, with the treasure I had so long sought on the other side of those unyielding doors. Old Tom's words suddenly flashed over me, and I could feel my hair literally beginning to rise. "There never was a buried treasure yet that didn't claim its victim." Great God!—and I was to be the ghost, and keep guard in this terrible tomb till the next dead man came along to relieve me of my sentry duty!

Frantically I turned up the wick of my lantern at the thought—but it was no use; it was plainly going out. I examined my match box; I had still a dozen or so matches left. And then my eye fell on that shattered chest. There were those boards, too. At all events I could build a fire and make torches of slivers of wood, so long as the wood lasted.

And then I had an idea. Why not make the fire against the door at the end of the gallery, and so burn my way through. Bravo! My spirits rose at the thought, and I set to at once—splitting some small kindling with my knife. In a few minutes I had quite a sprightly little fire going at the bottom of the door; but I saw that I should have to be extravagant with my wood if the fire was to be effective. However, it was neck or nothing; so I piled on beams and boards till my fire roared like a furnace, and presently I had the joy of seeing it begin to take hold of the door—which, after a short time, began to crackle and splutter in a very cheering fashion.

Whatever lay beyond, it was evident that I should soon be able to break my way through the obstacle, and, indeed, so it proved; for, presently, I used one of the boards as a battering ram, and, to my inexpressible joy, it went crashing through, with a shower of sparks, and it was but the work of a few more minutes before the whole door fell flaming down, and I was able to leap through the doorway into the darkness on the other side.

As I stood there, peering ahead, and holding aloft a burning stick—which proved, however, a poor substitute for my lantern—a wonderful sound smote my ears. I could not believe it, and my knees shook beneath me. It was the sound of the sea.

Yes, it was no illusion. It was the sound that the sea makes singing and echoing through hollow caves—the sound I heard that night as I stood at the moonlit door of Calypso's cavern, and saw that vision which my heart nearly broke to remember. Calypso! Oh Calypso! where was she at this moment? Pray God that she was indeed safe, as her father had said. But I had to will her from my mind, to keep from going mad.

And my poor torch had gone out, having, however, given me light enough to see that the door which I had just burnt through led out onto a narrow platform on the side of a rock that went slanting down into a chasm of blackness, through which, as in a great shell, boomed that murmuring of the sea. It had a perilous ugly look, and it was plain that it would be foolhardy to attempt it at the moment without a light; and my fire was dying down. Besides, I was beginning to feel light-headed and worn out, partly from lack of food, no doubt.

As there was no food to be had, I recalled the old French proverb, "He eats who sleeps"—or something to that effect—and I determined to husband my strength once more with a brief rest. However, as I turned to throw some more wood on my fire—preparing to indulge myself with a little campfire cheerfulness as I dozed off—my eyes fell once more on that grim line of locked doors; and my curiosity, and an idea, made me wakeful again. I had burned down one door—why not another? Why not, indeed?

So I raked over my fire to the family vault nearest to me, and presently had it roaring and licking against the stout door. It was, apparently, not so solid as the gallery door had been. At all events, it kindled more easily, and it was not long before I had the satisfaction of battering that door down.

As I did so, I caught sight of something in the interior that made me laugh aloud and behave generally like a madman. Of course, I didn't believe my eyes—but they persisted in declaring, nevertheless, that there in front of me was a great iron-bound oak chest, to begin with. It might not, of course, contain anything but bones—but it might! The thing was too absurd. I must have fallen asleep—must be already dreaming! But no! I was laboring with all my strength to open it with one of those rusty cutlasses. It was a tough job, but my strength was as the strength of ten, for the old treasure-hunting lust was upon me, and I had forgotten everything else in the world for the time.

At last, with a great wooden groan, as though its heart were breaking at having to give up its secret at last, it crashed open. I fell on my knees as though I had been struck by lightning, for it was literally brimming over with silver and gold pieces—doubloons and pieces of eight; English and French coins, too—guineas and louis d'or; "all"—as Tobias' manuscript had said—"all good money."

For a while I knelt over it, dazed and blinded, lost; then I slowly

LA FENDRICH

I Knew You'd Recognize the Brand

Old Doc Wise was sure right when he said, "If a LA FENDRICH doesn't suit your taste, you are either sick or don't know what constitutes a good cigar." "You see, the Fendrichs are very particular about their makes of cigars. They pick their tobaccos, themselves, right in the big Cuban patch, and age and mellow it under real Havana climatic conditions in their big Evansville factory—biggest in the world under one roof—where they have been making good cigars for sixty-nine years. No wonder everybody who smokes the LA FENDRICH, calls it plunged my hands into it; and let the pieces pour and pour through them, literally bathing them in gold and silver, as I had read of misers doing.

That Wonderful Havana Cigar with that Yum Yum taste."

Then suddenly I broke out into an Irish jig—never having had any notion of doing such a thing before.

In fact I behaved as I have read of men doing, whom a sudden fortune has bereft of reason. For the time, at all events, I was a gibbering madman. Certainly, there was to be no sleep for me that night! But, in the full tide of my frenzy, I suddenly noticed something that brought me up sharp. Out beyond the doorway it was growing light. It was only a dim tremulous suffusion of it, indeed, but it was real daylight—oozing in from somewhere or other—the blessed, blessed, daylight! God be praised!
